

This is an exact representation of the carton containing a bottle of St. Joseph's Liquid Liver Regulator, but it is much larger than this illustration, and printed in black ink on a yellow carton. Druggists and general merchants sell it at 50 cents a bottle, or you can get it direct from us at the same price. This is a delightful liver medicine—prompt, effective, and exceedingly pleasant to the taste. Try just one bottle to satisfy yourself—and you'll buy more.

Rev. S. G. Baker - Editor

The Rev. G. S. Crawford and his delegation leave this week for Jacksonville, where they will attend their annual association. They will return next week.

Miss Minnie Williams, of Lake City, the niece of our townsman, A. W. Wilson, has arrived in the city, and will spend the winter at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Smith.

The officials of Bethel Sunday school have begun their practice for the Christmas cantata, which will be given on Christmas night, as is usually done each year.

An association of the American Woodmen that had been in operation for several weeks materialized at the Masonic hall last Friday night, and the lodge has been launched under most favorable conditions. With the excellent set of officials who are at its head it cannot but succeed.

A very pleasant and jolly social was given at the residence of Mrs. Mary Thompson last Monday night. All who attended it express themselves as having enjoyed the occasion very highly.

A. W. Wilson has begun to ship his fruit from his grove a few miles out of the city limits. He sent to the northern markets last week more than 100 boxes of the most choice fruit.

The members of the B. Y. P. U. of the Union Baptist church gave a very delightful concert at their church last Monday night. The managers deserve much credit and many congratulations upon the most excellent manner in which they conducted it.

Thursday of this week marks the beginning of the celebration of the 25th anniversary of Bethel church and the fifth of the present pastor. All who attend the exercises will find them beyond the ordinary. A special sermon will be preached to the officials of the church Sunday afternoon by the Rev. Wm. Morgan, pastor of the Union Baptist church.

We are pleased to acknowledge the letter from Mrs. F. C. Pride of the girls industrial school at Daytona. She is a constant cash subscriber to The News. She reports her work in fine condition and that her daughter, Miss Linnie, is at Tallahassee in school.

Mrs. Ethel K. Wright was in the city last Saturday circulating among her many friends.

LAKE HELEN.

The wedding bells are still ringing in our village. Another brilliant wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Patterson, the Rev. D. B. Myrick officiating. The contracting parties were Mr. Robert Williams and Miss Lilla Patterson. This makes the third "Robert" that has claimed a bride from the home of Mr. Patterson, and yet there is room for one more if a lucky one can make the lucky hit. There is still another girl at that home. The above event took place November 18.

Little Horace, the grand son of Mrs. Eliza Richardson, mysteriously disappeared last Thursday night, and was not found until late Friday afternoon, when he was located at the home of one Mr. Smith at DeLand.

Mrs. Eliza Brothers, who has been ill for many months, departed this life last Friday at 1 o'clock. She had seen the frost of many winters, and she leaves an aged husband, two sons and a host of friends to mourn her loss. The bereaved family has the sympathy of the entire community in this hour of bereavement.

A "Square Deal club" has been organized by the boy pupils of the St. Petersburg schools for their own government while on the playgrounds. They called it "bumping" when we were a boy.

Florida raised 51,497 bales of cotton this year, of which 23,477 was long staple. It ought to have been a half million bales.

PRACTICAL TARIFF TALKS.

One of the schedules upon which much jugglery was practiced was that relating to cotton tariffs. Under the pretense of readjustment, a general increase in the schedule was secured, ranging from a negligible increase to 450 per cent on bleached cloths. The theory of the protectionist is that a duty is levied to protect American labor and to build up industries until they have got beyond the infant stage. This naturally raises the inquiry, when does an industry become so large and so profitable that it is no longer an infant and in need of protection? Under the old schedules the cotton industry, which has never yet been accused of being gobbled up by a trust, seems to have been doing very well.

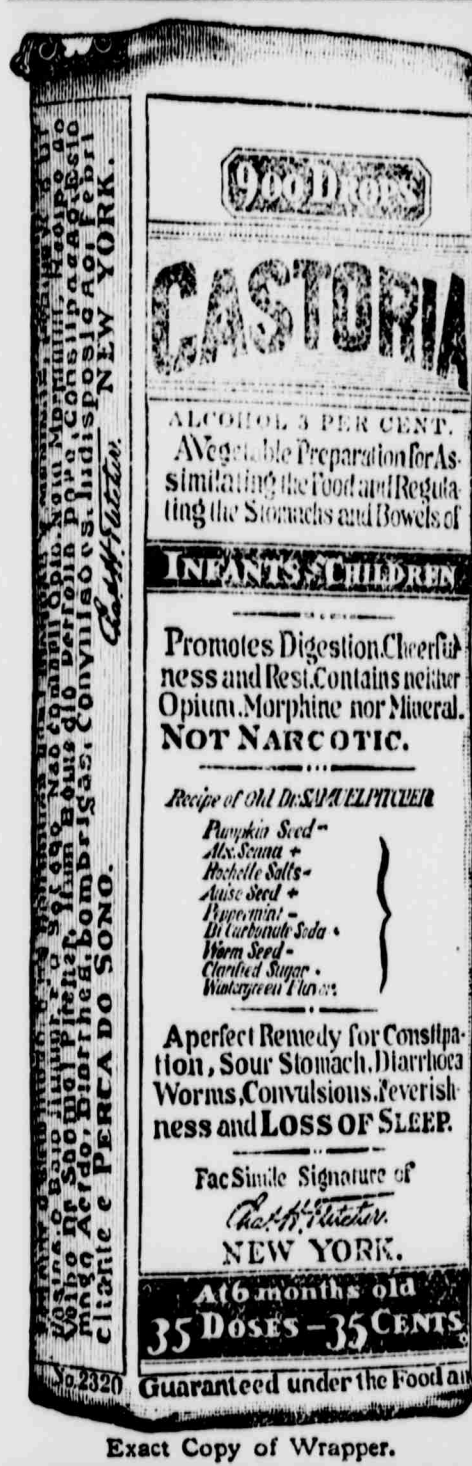

The State of Massachusetts requires all corporations to file full reports of their business annually. Rhode Island, where Senator Aldrich reigns, has no such law, and no statistics are, therefore, available from that State, as they are from Massachusetts. From those we learn that the Dartmouth Cotton company in 1907 paid a cash dividend of 16 per cent and a stock dividend of 50 per cent; the Troy Cotton and Woolen Manufacturing company paid 67 per cent the same year; the Acushnet company has averaged 21 per cent a year for nine years, and in addition in 1907 paid 66 per cent; the Massachusetts Cotton Mills of Lowell paid 8 per cent in 1907 and set aside 33 per cent to surplus; the American Linen company of Fall River paid 30 per cent; the Tecumseh Mills 34 per cent; the Border City Manufacturing company earned 37 1/2 per cent; the Pierce Manufacturing company of New Bedford 32 per cent; the Hathaway company 40 per cent; the Union Cotton Manufacturing Company 46 per cent; the Sagamore Manufacturing company 48 1/2 per cent; the Bourne Mills 49 1/2 per cent.

Then there is the Algonquin Printing company, engaged in the making of cotton fabrics. It was organized in 1893, under the Wilson law, in the days of the big panic, with a capital stock of $500,000. It had on hand in 1907 a surplus of $750,000, and during the last nine years its net earnings have aggregated 907 per cent, more than six times its capitalization. Its average annual return to the stockholders during those nine years has been 67 1/2 per cent. These statements were made on the floor of the senate, along with many others, by Senator Gore of Oklahoma. He challenged any member or any person to dispute their accuracy. The pages of the Congressional Record will be searched in vain for any reply to this challenge. The day previous Senator Lodge of Massachusetts had attempted to defend the earnings of the cotton manufacturers as modest and moderate, and Senator Gore then drew the records upon him, and after that the senate voted to increase the tariff on cotton cloths and cotton manufactures generally.

The explanation is not a difficult one. These new schedules were prepared by the cotton manufacturers themselves. Any person desiring the facts for himself—they are too long to recite here—can find them on page 5238 and 5239 of the Congressional Record for August 6, 1909. A committee of cotton men presented two paragraphs defining the terms used in the tariff bill relating to cotton cloths. The house accepted them and incorporated them in the bill. Chairman Payne later discovered that it was intended to more than double certain duties. He rose in the house and had it stricken out. When the bill came from Aldrich's committee in the senate it had again been inserted. A fight was made on it and it was eliminated. When the bill came back from conference it was there again in a new guise. The cotton industry was proven by Senator Gore's figures to be highly prosperous, but the senate gave it increased protection. It was proved later by Senator Dilliver that the schedules were dictated by the cotton manufacturers, but they were not struck out. The revising in this schedule was upward, and President Taft, who promised downward revision, made no effort to have it changed when the bill got into conference, but signed it as it was drawn by the manufacturers.—C. Q. D. in the Commoner.

Hard Roads in Alachua.

The Gainesville Daily Sun reproduces the entire editorial from the last issue of The News about "Bonding for Hard Roads," and commenting thereon, says:

"The Sun has been giving the question of bonding Alachua county for the construction of good roads some consideration for the past few months. Like The News, we favor bonding for this purpose, but we want to know where the roads are to be built, what material is to be used, by whom the money is to be spent, etc. In fact The News expresses exactly what has been revolving in our mind for some time. We believe a bond issue could be engineered in such a way as to give us two hundred miles or more of hard roads without increasing the present rate of taxation a single penny, but like The News, we have 'got to be shown' before the Sun will agree to support such a bond issue.

"Our columns are open to a discussion of the subject, and we invite communications along this line."
